The new Office of Faculty Development, now joined with the Center for Teaching and Learning, invites all Stanford professoriate, lecturers, and clinical educators to a Faculty Resource Fair and Reception. Please join us in this Kick-Off Celebration!

Resource Fair
2:00 - 4:30pm
Participating groups will highlight the many ways that faculty members can engage in the Stanford community from early career through Emeritus status.

Faculty & Family Reception
4:00 - 6:00 pm
Join us to celebrate! Faculty members and partners, spouses and children are invited to attend. The reception is an informal opportunity to meet new friends and colleagues in a relaxed atmosphere. There will be music, giveaways, food and drinks, and face painting, balloon art and a magician for children.

Breakout Sessions
2:00 - 4:00 pm
- Stanford Funding Opportunities: Strategies for Successful Applications
- Between Raising Children and Aging Parents - It Takes a Village
- Center For Teaching and Learning (CTL):
  - The Power of Poll Everywhere
  - Teaching Your Students to Learn
  - Navigating Sensitive Conversations in the Classroom
- So You Think You Aren’t Ready to Retire!
- Success as an Academic Parent - Work and Life with a New Child

For more information visit: https://facultydevelopment.stanford.edu/faculty-resource-fair-2020
Breakout Sessions and Workshops – Feb 26, 2020

Stanford Funding Opportunities: Strategies for Successful Applications
2:30 – 3:30pm
President’s Dining room
The Research IT and Innovation team in the office of the Vice Provost and Dean of Research will present the Stanford Seed Funding website and host a Q&A with experienced staff members who manage calls for proposals on how to apply successfully for Stanford internal funding opportunities.
_Pauline Larmaraud, Manager, Research IT & Innovation, Stanford Seed Funding, Office of the Vice Provost and Dean of Research_

Success as an Academic Parent – Work and Life with a New Child
2-2:30pm; 3:30-4pm
President’s Dining Room
Are you planning to welcome a new child into your family? Are you a parent preparing to return or recently returned from your maternity/paternity/baby bonding leave? This valuable session will explore how to manage the transition back to service after baby.
- Learn about essential support resources at Stanford to help balance your career and family needs
- Get actionable tips and ideas to help ease the transition back to teaching and research
- Explore coping and adjustment strategies for caregiving and a “well-blended” life
_Caitlin Azhderian, Ed.M., WorkLife Portfolio Manager, WorkLife Office_

The Power of Poll Everywhere
2-2:20pm and 3-3:20pm
The Library Room
Learn how Poll Everywhere, the Stanford-supported audience response system, can be used to support interactive classroom instruction and real-time student engagement. In this session, you will actively participate in poll activities and examine proven pedagogical strategies that leverage the power of Poll Everywhere.
_Center for Teaching and Learning_

Teaching Your Students to Learn
2:20-2:40pm; 3:20-3:40pm
The Library Room
Have you found that despite your students’ best efforts, they can’t seem to learn effectively in your courses? In many cases, students’ prior experiences haven’t prepared them for _how_ to learn effectively in college or graduate courses. In this workshop, you will learn how to incorporate evidence-based learning principles into your teaching, with the goal of helping your students become more successful learners.
_Center for Teaching and Learning_

Navigating Sensitive Conversations in the Classroom
2:40-3pm; 3:40-4pm
The Library Room
Students enter the classroom with a diverse set of histories and experiences, and they might encounter course material and discussion that challenges them intellectually as well as personally. This workshop will offer you strategies for creating a supportive class environment and navigating sensitive classroom moments.
_Center for Teaching and Learning_

So You THINK You Aren’t Ready to Retire!
2-2:30pm; 3-3:30pm
PDR 6&7
In this session you will receive a copy of _A Self-Assessment of Readiness to Retire_ tool and recently retired Stanford Faculty will discuss the transition to retirement, followed by informal Q&A.
_Iris Litt, Marron and Mary Elisabeth Kendrick Professor of Pediatrics (Emerita), and members of the Stanford Emeriti Council_

Between Raising Children and Aging Parents – It takes a Village
2:30 – 3:00pm; 3:30 – 4:00pm
PDR 6&7
Are you seeking support resources for meeting the needs of your children and your aging parents? Attend this workshop for tips and strategies for navigating these challenges and how to reduce the family demands placed on you.
_Mona Hartmann, Child & family Resource Coordinator, WorkLife Office_